The Postgraduate Diploma in Christian Communications and Media Practice is offered as part of St. Patrick's College Maynooth postgraduate courses.

Classes are located at the nearby studio facilities of Kairos Communications Ltd, a company with over 30 years production and third level teaching experience.

Taught by media professionals, the program will provide students with a strong practical knowledge of a wide range of media practice such as camerawork, editing, TV Studio, Live Radio production, presentation and social media engagement.

Participants will learn through intensive hands on experience, develop technical and practical skills which will be highly transferable in the ever changing employment market.

Students will be introduced to theoretical perspectives which will equip them with the conceptual tools and framework to develop a critical understanding of the context of media as it evolves and develops.

The course is offered on the basis of practical media production modules underpinned with theoretical components. Its delivery seeks to integrate both theoretical learning and skills acquisition, creating a schedule where participants have the opportunity to work with course partners and develop individual projects in a real world setting.

Digital Publishing - Looking at the theory and practice of making web based content- with an introduction to photography, picture editing, online video publishing, graphic and web design.

Live Radio Production - Examining the theory and practice of making studio-based radio programmes. This module also looks at news values, scripts, presentation and interview techniques.

TV Production- Visual Storytelling - Overview of production techniques and best practice inherent in producing and directing factual documentary projects.

Video Content Creation - Students will explore a wide range of topics from video pre-production to camerawork to video editing.

TV Studio - Combining both on and off-screen roles, this module provides a practical experience of both live and pre-recorded TV production in a working television studio.

The Documentary Programme - Examining the media in its historical context, the module also brings students through the vital core elements of programme making,

Investigative Journalism - This introductory module is designed to provide students with an understanding of investigative journalism, including the role of whistleblowers, validity of sources and operating in the context of information suppression.

Media Law - This module provides an introduction to the laws as they affect both traditional and new media, including defamation, privacy and copyright law.

Master Class - A host of various media industry professionals will deliver classes which will provide insight into their respective skill sets and their roles in the media.
